Barneveld, 1 July 2011 – Design doesn't have to be expensive, as EeStairs proves with the latest design concept: Moon Staircase. This is the most recent Standard Design after the 1m2 staircase, Cells Design and the TransParancy1-03 series. Thanks to the various concepts it is possible to purchase a designer staircase on a limited budget.

EeStairs is characterised by eye-catching designs and innovative product applications. The Moon Staircase is a smart solution with a striking appearance. The pivot is not visible from the outside because of the innovative way each tread is placed into it. This makes the design both practical and stylish and ensures that the staircase is appropriate for shops, homes, offices and public buildings.

Use of material

"The Moon Staircase is one of our latest Standard Designs. The concept has been so set up that each customer themselves influences the end result. This makes each staircase unique", says Cornelis van Vlastuin, EeStairs Creative Director. Van Vlastuin is referring to the choice customers have, for example, in the materials used for the pivot and the balustrade. In addition, the treads are produced in various shapes and materials, such as natural stone or wood, depending on the customer's wishes.

Creativity

With each design, EeStairs wants to raise the appearance of homes, shops and projects to a higher level. Cornelis van Vlastuin: "Creativity and functionality are central to each EeStairs design, and because we both design and manufacture all of our staircases, they are always optimally finished. Over the last few years we have designed a large number of both modern and traditional staircases. The most important starting point for us is to ensure that the customer's wishes are translated into a staircase that really fits his requirements."
